

TIGHE IS REBUKED.

Mayor Boody Apologizes for the Ill-Treatment of the Vikings.

Brooklyn Will Do Its Best to Wipe Away the Stigma.

A Hearing in the Court of the Mayor's Men to-Morrow.

Capt. Magnus Andersen, of the Viking, accompanied by Lawyer August Reymert, went over to Brooklyn this morning, to get satisfaction for the outrageous treatment by the Brooklyn police early yesterday.

Capt. Andersen went over on the Wall Street Ferry with Mr. Reymert, and on the boat they met Gen. C. T. Christensen, President of the Brooklyn Trust Company.

Gen. Christensen is one of the most prominent Scandinavians in the City of Churches.

Capt. Andersen told Gen. Christensen of his proposed visit to Mayor Boody, and Gen. Christensen volunteered to accompany him to the City Hall and present him to the Mayor.

The little party had hardly passed the huge columns in front of the City Hall when the fact that they had arrived spread all through the city buildings.

Capt. Andersen and his friends went at once to the Mayor's office, where they were very cordially greeted by Mayor Boody.

Gen. Christensen stated the object of the visit to the Mayor, who said he would do what he could to set matters straight.

He sent at once for Police Commissioner Henry H. Wood, and for Justice Tighe. Gen. Christensen took his leave.

Capt. Andersen and Mr. Reymert were soon escorted with the Mayor and Commissioner. Within a very few minutes Justice Tighe looked over the matter, and the Mayor said he would do his best to set matters straight.

He was at once admitted to the conference, which lasted fully fifteen minutes.

Capt. Andersen, in telling what occurred before the Mayor and Commissioner, said:

"The Mayor treated us very courteously indeed. He said he wanted to apologize for the inconvenience to which we had been placed by a few acts of the police."

"The Mayor said that all we wanted was the time shortened for our examination so we could go on Chicago."

"The Mayor said he could not accept the invitation until the present trouble had been settled, and the stigma on the Vikings wiped off, then he would gladly come and see us."

"When Justice Tighe arrived he came with a policeman, and he said he would not let this matter only as a police magistrate, with the case properly before him."

"At the suggestion of the Mayor and Police Commissioner the case was set for the morning of the 1st of July."

"He said he had heard he was ready to read the law to him, but he was not, nor was any of my men."

"I do not intend to bring an action against Judge Tighe, but I have been impeached for conduct unbecoming a magistrate. The whole Scandinavian community in Brooklyn would have backed such a course. They claim they could get enough evidence to do it."

"This will be a very much pleased with the conduct of Mayor Boody. He was introduced to the heads of the various departments."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

LORDLY NEWS.

LOUIS HELD FOR REQUISITION.

The Twelve-Year-Old Boy Will Be Taken to New Jersey.

He Declares Bertie Wagner Was Shot Accidentally.

Louis Wood, the little fellow, twelve years old, arrested with the murder of Bertie Wagner, the three-year-old son of Louis Wagner, a farmer, living near Freehold, N. J., was held to await requisition papers by Justice Walsh in the Adams Street Police Court, Brooklyn, this morning.

Although the boy is in his thirteenth year, he is very small and appears about nine years of age.

While Clerk Quinn was making out the proper papers in the case, Louis sat on one of the court benches between Detective Charles E. Strong, of the Central Squad, and Constable Charles E. Strong, of Monmouth County, N. J., who arrested him.

Just back of the boy sat his heart-broken mother, who was weeping and sobbing continually.

Louis cried a good deal and said he wanted to be taken away from his mother.

Constable Strong told Justice Walsh the story of the shooting, based on circumstantial evidence.

He said that Louis had been sent from Brooklyn to work on a farm near Freehold, a week ago, but that he fooled away his time and refused to execute the orders of his employers.

Saturday afternoon Farmer Wagner discharged the boy, Louis, he said, and the boy returned to Brooklyn.

One was an old double-barreled rifle that had not been handled in years. The boy was at once admitted to the conference, which lasted fully fifteen minutes.

Capt. Andersen, in telling what occurred before the Mayor and Commissioner, said:

"The Mayor treated us very courteously indeed. He said he wanted to apologize for the inconvenience to which we had been placed by a few acts of the police."

"The Mayor said that all we wanted was the time shortened for our examination so we could go on Chicago."

"The Mayor said he could not accept the invitation until the present trouble had been settled, and the stigma on the Vikings wiped off, then he would gladly come and see us."

"When Justice Tighe arrived he came with a policeman, and he said he would not let this matter only as a police magistrate, with the case properly before him."

"At the suggestion of the Mayor and Police Commissioner the case was set for the morning of the 1st of July."

"He said he had heard he was ready to read the law to him, but he was not, nor was any of my men."

"I do not intend to bring an action against Judge Tighe, but I have been impeached for conduct unbecoming a magistrate. The whole Scandinavian community in Brooklyn would have backed such a course. They claim they could get enough evidence to do it."

"This will be a very much pleased with the conduct of Mayor Boody. He was introduced to the heads of the various departments."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

"The Mayor said after the conference that the matter had been settled satisfactorily."

MRS. POMEROY'S ADVENTURE.

Upset in a Patrol Wagon and Fined $1 for Being Drunk.

A message was received at Police Headquarters last evening that a woman had attempted suicide at 85 Sands street.

The lower Fulton street police sent a patrol wagon in charge of James J. Keating, the driver, Charles J. Pub, conductor, and a policeman Hugh McLaughlin to the house, Mrs. Pomero's, lying across the sidewalk surrounded by a crowd.

The horses were turning down Fulton street on the return when the wheels caught in the railroad switch, and the vehicle was overturned. The occupants were sent flying into the air.

Officer McLaughlin struck the sidewalk on his side and was badly bruised about the head and neck. He was also injured about the hip and sprained his right arm.

Mrs. Pomero and Conductor Pub escaped without a scratch. Mrs. Pomero was examined by a doctor, who said she showed no signs of having poisoned herself, and she was locked up.

Pomero told the police that his wife had been drinking during the day, and that she came home he upbraided her for being under the influence of liquor. She had a pair of trousers on, and she was wearing a white dress.

She told him to go to bed, and she took some of it. He left to call the police, without waiting to see whether she took it.

He was locked up.

Mrs. Pomero's wife was taken to the hospital.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

She was locked up.

PICKING JURORS TO TRY M'KEE.

Slow Work in Getting a Panel for the Brooklyn Alderman.

A Few New Names Added to Those Already Chosen.

The work of securing a jury to try Alderman William McKee, charged with complicity in the alleged Columbian frauds, was continued in the Court of Sessions in Brooklyn to-day. The little court-room was well filled when the proceedings opened, and in less than half an hour afterwards the air was stifling.

District-Attorney Ridgway examined the talemens for the people, and Lawyer Edward O'Dwyer looked after the interests of the defendant. The jurors selected yesterday were:

Edward Cole, provision dealer, 215 Rutledge street.

John D. O'Connell, transfer agent, 278 Monroe street.

Sam Salmon, underwear, 434 Henry street.

Charles P. Oakley, merchant tailor, 233 McDonough street.

The jurors were secured, the remaining jurors dragged wearily along for a few hours, when three more candidates were accepted. The additional jurors are:

George R. Roach, real estate, 308 Skillman street.

Thomas G. Maudslow, builder, 50 South Portland avenue.

Robert H. Craig, real estate, 50 Belmont avenue.

During the examination of Mr. Maudslow it was learned that although he had taken very little interest in the Columbian cases, his partner, Franklin French, discussed the matter quite frequently.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

Nelson and French were the builders of the Y. M. C. A. Building on Fulton street, near Bond.

ALLEGED DYNAMITER HERE.

James Gilbert Cunningham Arrives from an English Prison.

Released After Serving Eight Years of a Life Sentence.

James Gilbert Cunningham, the young Irishman convicted of having exploded dynamite in the English House of Parliament, and who was recently released from Portland prison, where he served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him on his arrival hardly recognized him.

Since the arrival of Cunningham, he went to England from this city ten years ago.

The Land League, and the Irish societies generally, had intended giving Cunningham a royal welcome on his arrival here, but, owing to the early hour of the steamer's arrival, combined with other causes, the plans miscarried.

Cunningham, however, was met down the bay at quarantine by a number of well-known Irish friends.

Through the courtesy of Dr. Benner and Gen. O'Brien, Cunningham, who came over in the second cabin, experienced no difficulty in being released from the steamer.

The so-called dynamiter and his friends were landed at the dock at Castle Garden. From there they took car to the Hotel McManis, where Mr. Cunningham will stay for a few days.

Dr. Benner, the physician, and the Vanderbilt Hotel to-night, when it is said, steps will be taken looking to the release of Cunningham from the political offenses and confined in English prisons.

Cunningham was chary about talking with reporters, but to his friends, Tom Breslin, Billy Reilly and Mr. Haybryne, he said that Dr. Gallagher, who is now confined in Portland Prison, and serving a life sentence, had been charged to that which Cunningham was found guilty of, is mildly insane.

He thought the doctor would have been liberated long ago but for the timidity of ex-Minister Lincoln. Of his experience in the English prisons, he said he also spoke in harsh terms.

Cunningham has been living in London since his release from the English prison. He has been interested in him and secured him a passage to America.

He said that Dr. Gallagher, who is now confined in Portland Prison, and serving a life sentence, had been charged to that which Cunningham was found guilty of, is mildly insane.

He thought the doctor would have been liberated long ago but for the timidity of ex-Minister Lincoln. Of his experience in the English prisons, he said he also spoke in harsh terms.

Cunningham has been living in London since his release from the English prison. He has been interested in him and secured him a passage to America.

He said that Dr. Gallagher, who is now confined in Portland Prison, and serving a life sentence, had been charged to that which Cunningham was found guilty of, is mildly insane.

He thought the doctor would have been liberated long ago but for the timidity of ex-Minister Lincoln. Of his experience in the English prisons, he said he also spoke in harsh terms.

Cunningham has been living in London since his release from the English prison. He has been interested in him and secured him a passage to America.

He said that Dr. Gallagher, who is now confined in Portland Prison, and serving a life sentence, had been charged to that which Cunningham was found guilty of, is mildly insane.

He thought the doctor would have been liberated long ago but for the timidity of ex-Minister Lincoln. Of his experience in the English prisons, he said he also spoke in harsh terms.

Cunningham has been living in London since his release from the English prison. He has been interested in him and secured him a passage to America.

He said that Dr. Gallagher, who is now confined in Portland Prison, and serving a life sentence, had been charged to that which Cunningham was found guilty of, is mildly insane.

He thought the doctor would have been liberated long ago but for the timidity of ex-Minister Lincoln. Of his experience in the English prisons, he said he also spoke in harsh terms.

Cunningham has been living in London since his release from the English prison. He has been interested in him and secured him a passage to America.

He said that Dr. Gallagher, who is now confined in Portland Prison, and serving a life sentence, had been charged to that which Cunningham was found guilty of, is mildly insane.

He thought the doctor would have been liberated long ago but for the timidity of ex-Minister Lincoln. Of his experience in the English prisons, he said he also spoke in harsh terms.

Cunningham has been living in London since his release from the English prison. He has been interested in him and secured him a passage to America.

He said that Dr. Gallagher, who is now confined in Portland Prison, and serving a life sentence, had been charged to that which Cunningham was found guilty of, is mildly insane.